Marriott to manage new Hutchinson golf course

Cottonwood Hills Golf Club, a public course under construction east of Hutchinson, has hired Marriott Golf to manage the facility. The course, the centerpiece of a 619-acre residential development, was designed by former Masters and British Open champion Nick Faldo. Nine holes are scheduled to open early next spring, and the remaining nine will open by summer, when the first residents are expected to move in as well.

Marriott Golf is the world's largest golf resort management company and a unit of hotelier Marriott International Inc. It has been an adviser on the design and construction of Cottonwood Hills, and now will manage the Cottonwood Hills course's maintenance, instructional programs, golf programming, and food and beverage service.
